Issue Supplementary Lists.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
RALEIGH, N. C. November 12.—An seffort is being made by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, J. Y. Joyner, to have the boards of county commissioners in those counties where levies of special school poil tax over $2 were not made for the special tax districts June 1st to issue to the sheriffs supplementary tax lists, so that these taxes may be gotten in for the current school year, since expenses with this tax included have been incurred by school committees. He says that, even if there is no absolute law for such action, it is clearly the common sense way to do since the Supreme Court holds that the tax is valid. He is writing the commissioners in all counties involved urging this course, and taking the ground that no one will undertake to resist the collection of the tax if this is done.
